Responding to Opioid Overdose State Targeted Response

The Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) awarded states grants as part of the State Targeted Response (STR) to the opioid epidemic. One of New York State's initiatives as part of the grant focuses on addressing opioid overdose related fatalities in counties showing very high rates of overdose deaths and emergency department visits related to opioid use disorder. This initiative involves training thousands of first responders and other likely witnesses in these counties.

For more information and training dates and location, see the flyer on page 6.

NYS Prevailing Wages Workshop with NYS DOL, Bureau of Public Works

Stephen P. Hoefler, RCLS Fiscal Officer

Is your library required to pay prevailing wages?

If you are an association library, no (with one exception); but school district, municipal and special district libraries are all subject to NYS Department of Labor Article 8, public works projects, and Article 9, building services.

The NYS Department of Labor, Bureau of Public Works has been invited to speak about prevailing wages and what the libraries' responsibilities are with regards to Request For Proposal (RFP) disclosures, applying for Prevailing Rate Case (PRC), viewing payrolls for facial validity and to submit the notice of award and completion.

The Public Works and the Library Responsibilities workshop will be held on Tuesday, May 22, from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. Please register using the RCLS online calendar.

It is worth noting that the RCLS Review of Eligible Projects workshop is the following day Wednesday, May 23, from 9:30 a.m. to 12 p.m. If your library is a school district, municipal or special district library and the library intends to apply for a NYS Public Library Construction Grant, this is a great workshop to ensure the library is adhering to the Library Board of Trustee's Assurance Document in which they "assure" that "The project will be conducted in accordance with all applicable Federal, State, and local laws and regulations" such as prevailing wages.

I am looking forward to seeing someone from the 28 out of 47 libraries that are not association libraries.

Gearing up for the 2020 Census

District Dispatch, Apr. 4

Larra Clark writes, "In the warp speed of politics, 2020 can seem light years away. But current policy discussions and outreach planning for the United States 2020 Census could have significant impacts for libraries. ALA is working to ensure that libraries are informed and represented in the process. To best position libraries to support our communities in the 2020 Census, ALA has begun engaging with the Census Bureau and other stakeholders, including the Leadership Council on Civil and Human Rights."

Libraries Encouraged to Apply for 'Bullet Aid'

*Jeremy Johannesen, CAE, Executive Director,
New York Library Association*

As you are likely aware, recent NYS budgets have included appropriations for direct grants-in-aid to certain educational institutions, including libraries and library systems. The recently adopted state budget again has included these funds – 'Bullet Aid,' in the vernacular.

NYLA has effectively partnered with library and library system directors to grow the share of Bullet Aid awards to libraries. We owe this success in part to the increased number of libraries submitting requests for funding. Bullet Aid awards are allocated at the discretion of individual legislators from their share of available funds.

We are encouraging all public libraries to submit a request for funding to their State Senator AND State Assemblymember. Project awards have ranged from as little as $500 to over $50K, to support everything from programming to technology upgrades, to renewable energy and sustainability initiatives.

NYLA is pleased to provide a baseline template for submitting a request for funding – 2018 Bullet Aid Request Template

Best of luck to all – together we can ensure that libraries receive as much of this funding as possible.

Assemblyman Brian Miller visited the Josephine-Louise Public Library, Walden during National Library Week! He spent the morning visiting with staff, catching up on the latest construction projects in the building, and talked about advocacy and increased funding in the State Budget.

Everyday Advocacy Has Lots to Offer

ALSC Blog, Apr. 5

Laura Schulte-Cooper writes, “With National Library Legislative Day (May 7–8) just about a month away, this seems an appropriate time to remind everyone about Everyday Advocacy (EA). According to ALSC’s EA website, Everyday Advocacy is ‘a grassroots effort that starts with you and the incredible things you’re already doing for the youth and families you serve.’ Consider Everyday Advocacy an antidote to the advocacy intimidation factor. In Memoriam

Robert Knight, 1939-2018

Brian Jennings, Head of Adult Services, New City Library

Robert “Bob” Knight died at his home in Congers on Sunday, April 1. Bob was a long-time advocate and user of Rockland libraries. He was on the RCLS Board for a total of 19 Years (January 1980 - December 1989 and January 2003 - December 2011). He was President of the Board in 1986-1987 and 2010-2011. His love of libraries began much earlier than that as a young boy at the Pearl River Public Library. In an interview from 2015, Bob recalled those early years as a reader and an avid library patron:

My mother introduced me to the library very early on and I was probably 4 or 5 years old when I first went to the library and I became addicted to the library. That became my hangout in town. It was on Ridge Street in what had been a two lane bowling alley and when the bowling alley went out of business they converted into a library, just one room, very small, but it had an amazing collection of books and that was where I first discovered that, even they had what I thought at that time was a big collection – even though it was just one large room that was the entire library, they also had the ability to get books, so if I wanted a book that they didn't happen to have they had this mysterious way which I later got much more involved in and found out how it worked. At that time to me it was a big mystery that I could go and request a certain book and two or three days later I could go back and the book would be waiting there for me with my name on it. I thought that was amazing – behind the librarian's desk there would be a book with the name Robert Knight on a little piece of paper stuck in it. I just thought that was incredible.

Bob was also an avid postcard collector, local historian, and a local newspaper reporter. He covered the fatal Valley Cottage bus crash in 1972 for the Journal News and would later move to the old Gilcrest sandstone farmhouse just adjacent to the scene of that horrible accident. He covered the Orangetown Town Board Meetings for over 50 years, first as a reporter for the Journal News and more recently for the Rockland County Times. He worked tirelessly as an advocate for the preservation of historic structures as Historian for the Town of Clarkstown and he served on many local historical commissions, committees and organizations. If you want to learn more about Bob and his life, listen to the oral history interview I did with him back in December 2015 on the Hudson River Valley Heritage website.

Passing of New York State Librarian Bernard A. Margolis

Statement from Board of Regents Chancellor Betty A. Rosa and Commissioner of Education Maryellen Elia

We are deeply saddened by the recent passing of Bernard A. Margolis, New York State Librarian and Assistant Commissioner for Libraries.

Bernie was an outstanding library leader and a visionary. His expertise in library matters will be missed not only by the Board of Regents and the staff of the State Education Department, but across the State and the nation. His colleagues and friends at the Department and in the library community will miss his intelligence, eloquence, keen sense of humor and sage advice.

Appointed State Librarian by the Board of Regents in January 2009, Bernie provided leadership and vision for the New York State Library, the state's 73 library systems and New York's 7,000 academic, public, school and special libraries.

Bernie was very much looking forward to celebrating the State Library's 200th Anniversary this month. Thanks to his vision and leadership, we have much to celebrate.

Bernie accomplished much over the course of a long and successful career as a librarian and library leader. During his tenure at the New York State Library, state funding for public library construction more than doubled; participation in Summer Reading at New York Libraries grew to more than two million young people; and free public access internet and Wi-Fi are now available to patrons in all of New York's public libraries. Of course, those are only some of the highlights of his exceptional tenure as New York State Librarian.

Bernie came to the State Library from his previous post as President of the Boston Public Library, where he served from 1997 to 2008.

We are so fortunate that Bernie chose to share with the public his lifelong love of books and learning. We are all better off because of his dedication and service to others.

Responding to Opioid Overdose State Targeted Response

Background:

The Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) awarded states grants as part of the State Targeted Response (STR) to the opioid epidemic. One of New York State's initiatives as part of the grant focuses on addressing opioid overdose related fatalities in counties showing very high rates of overdose deaths and emergency department visits related to opioid use disorder. This initiative involves training thousands of first responders and other likely witnesses in these counties.

Training Description:

Naloxone has been fundamental in the efforts to decrease rates of fatal overdoses. This training teaches first responders, likely opioid overdose witnesses and community members to understand, recognize, respond to and reverse opioid overdoses using a naloxone rescue kit. Participants will receive a free naloxone rescue kit after completing the training. This training is modeled after the evidence-based SAMHSA Opioid Overdose Prevention Toolkit.

The objectives are:

- to increase understanding and awareness of fatal overdoses related to opioids and the impact within the community
- to identify risk factors for an overdose
- to be able to recognize an overdose
- to be able to identify the five essential steps for first responders as outlined in the SAMHSA Opioid Overdose Prevention Toolkit in the event of an overdose
- to be able to correctly use naloxone to save lives

Who Should Attend:

This interactive training is tailored for first responders or other likely witnesses to an opioid overdose.

Why Attend:

- to become part of the solution to solving the opioid issue in the community
- to learn how to save a life during an overdose situation
- to receive education on crucial information related to opioids and the surrounding community
